Prep 15 min Cook 15 min Total 30 min Serves 4

Ingredients

- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 1 16-ounce package mozzarella — cubed
- 4 cloves garlic — crushed
- 1 cup basil leaves — chopped (reserve a few leaves for garnish)
- crushed dried red pepper — to taste
- salt and pepper — to taste
- 1 28-ounce can crushed San Marzano tomatoes
- 1 lb fusilli or other corkscrew pasta

Instructions

1. Combine the olive oil, cubed mozzarella, garlic, basil, crushed red pepper, salt and pepper, and crushed tomatoes in a large bowl, stirring together.
2. Transfer the mixture to a pot and warm over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until hot and the mozzarella begins to melt.
3. Boil the pasta as directed. Drain, then pour the hot pasta over the sauce. Mix and serve.

Yidi's version: uses a can of crushed tomatoes instead of whole tomatoes, so there is no crushing or simmering the tomatoes first. Everything is mixed cold, then warmed in a pot until the mozzarella melts. Adapted from Christina Conti's Pasta Caprese (newspaper clipping). — Newspaper clipping: Christina Conti's Pasta Caprese
